

What Do I Do Now?

- Develop a Safety Plan for escape in case of emergency and store it in a safe and secret place. Include: important phone numbers, a packed bag at a friend's house, code words to use to cue friends and family to call the police, etc. (See "Making a Personal Safety Plan" brochure.)
- Alert friends and family to the problem.
- Find a place to stay outside of the home that the abuser does not know about.
- Get an Order of Protection if necessary. A Civil Protection Order (CPO) is a court order by a judge, lasting up to one year, designed to protect victims from contact with the abuser. The CPO is delivered by an officer and orders the abuser, by law, to completely cease contact with you. If the abuser breaks this order, they can be put in jail. You can get a CPO at the Domestic Violence Intake Center (DVIC), located in two separate locations in DC.

DC Superior Court
Room 4550
500 Indiana Ave, N.W.
(202) 879-0152

United Medical Center
Suite 311
1328 Southern Ave, S.E.
(202) 561-3000

WHERE TO TURN FOR HELP

Police

In an emergency, dial 911

Metropolitan Police Department:

1st District: (202) 299-2037
1DSubstation: (202) 698-0068

2nd District: (202) 715-7300

3rd District: (202) 673-6815
3DSubstation: (202) 576-8222

4th District: (202) 715-1506

5th District: (202) 698-0150

6th District: (202) 698-0880
6DSubstation: (202) 698-2088

7th District: (202) 698-1500

National

National Domestic Violence Hotline:
(800) 799-SAFE (7233)

Local

Domestic Violence Intake Center

NW: (202) 879-0152 SE: (202) 561-3000

24-hour shelters, Hotlines and Counseling:

House of Ruth: (202) 667-7001 x 217

My Sister's Place: (202) 529-5991

Financial Assistance:

Crime Victims Compensation Program:
(202) 879-4216

Legal Assistance:

American University: (202) 274-4140

AYUDA: (202) 387-0434

Bread for the City: (202) 265-2400

SAFE: (202) 879-7857

Domestic Violence Unit

300 Indiana Ave, N.W., Room 3156
Washington, D.C. 20001
Office: 202-727-7137 | Fax: 202-727-6491
<http://www.mpdc.dc.gov/victimassistance>

Domestic Violence & HIV

A guide for victims from the
Metropolitan Police Department

A guide to getting educated and getting help.

WHAT IS DOMESTIC VIOLENCE?

Domestic violence is a pattern of abusive behavior used to control another person. Domestic Violence is any type of violence, abuse, or threat of violence that one partner in a relationship commits against another. It includes physical, sexual, emotional, psychological, and verbal abuse.

SIGNS OF ABUSE

Does Your Partner

- Break furniture, belongings, and/or personal effects?
- Throw objects at you?
- Hit, slap, punch, push, shove, strangle or kick you?
- Prevent you from leaving the house, working or seeing close friends and family?
- Criticize, threaten to hurt you or call you names?
- Blame you for his or her abuse of you
- Blame you for family, marital and financial problems?
- Force you to have sex or perform sexual acts that are undesirable to you?
- Withhold finances, keep you from spending money or constantly question your spending?
- Subject you to reckless driving and other dangerous activities as a means of control?
- Use threats to you and your children as leverage to keep you quiet about the abuse?

If you answered yes to any of these, you may be the victim of Domestic Violence and you should seek help immediately!

The Cycle of Violence

Many people who encounter domestic violence notice a cycle in the abuser's behavior. Below are the key elements of each phase in the cycle.

Phase 1:

- Tension Building Phase: During this phase, the abuser is angry, uses yelling, criticism, swearing and angry gestures. Sometimes coercion, threats or minor fights occur. The victim often feels anxious about the situation and building tension.

Phase 2:

- Violence ("Explosion") Phase: Major act of violence occurs. This includes verbal abuse, physical and/or sexual attack, and threats to harm.

Phase 3:

- Honeymoon Phase: After the explosion, the abuser feels sorry and acts apologetic and loving, often making promises to change, buying gifts, and doing nice things for the victim. While the victim may think this phase will last, the Tension Building Phase will begin again.

How to help a friend who is being abused:

- Listen to them and believe what they are saying.
- Assure them that they do not deserve abuse.
- Encourage them to get help immediately!
- Let them know you support them gather information for them, take them to clinics and shelters and offer to help out in any way possible.

FACTS ABOUT HIV & DOMESTIC VIOLENCE:

- There are over one million people living with HIV/AIDS in the US. Approximately 25% of these people don't know that they are infected.
- African-Americans make up the majority of AIDS diagnoses.
- As of 2004, women comprised approximately one quarter of new AIDS diagnoses.
- In 2004, Washington DC had the highest AIDS case rate per 100,000 people out of all the states.
- Women with HIV or women who are at risk for HIV may face a 50% chance of domestic violence as well.
- Many women who experience domestic violence may not be able to take steps to prevent HIV infection such as condom use.
- Abusive partners are also more likely to participate in other high-risk behaviors that may expose them to HIV
- Women who have experienced abuse earlier in their lives are more likely to have partners who are at high risk for HIV
- Women who have experienced abuse earlier in their lives may not always make the best decisions for their personal safety and health.
- Women in abusive relationships may experience control by their partners that inhibits their ability to get tested for HIV, follow up with doctors, and access the medication that they need.

